I just want to send condolences because I read your loved one's obituary. I'm sorry for your loss. It seems so unfair that death should have the power to take away someone you love. And when it happens, the thought of never again being able to talk to, laugh with, or hold them can be most difficult to bear. The Bible however holds out a great hope. Revelation 21: 3, 4: "...And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away."

I'm deeply saddened by Kent's passing. I am his first cousin and we grew up together like brothers. We spend a great deal of time together especially in summer. I taught Kent to play the guitar and he was the fastest learner I ever saw. Even though I haven't seen much of him over the years, I think of him often. My prayers are with Kent and all of his extended families. Dr. Dan Bird
