Lea & family, Sorry to hear of the loss of Preston. My brother Scott and I had fun reminiscing last night about the years spent living next door to the Bushman family in Snowflake. Preston was quite a character. Many fun memories.

Our deepest sympathy to Jen, Lia and their families. May the Lord be with you at this time. For his all life, Preston was always an example to us in the way he loved the Lord and desired to follow him. He was fun, intelligent and charmed everybody with his very own kind, playful personality and shining bright blue eyes. He chose a wonderful companion for his wife and knew every hymn in the book and could sing them until the end because the music and its message were one with his character. Preston, we will miss you, but know that this time is a new beginning for you. We hope to join with you again someday. We love you. Until we meet again with love from Tony and family.
