I'm sorry to Brent's family and friends for their loss. Unfortunately, though he was my uncle, I didn't know him, but I do have faint memories of playing with his kids at my home as children. Through the obituary and the memories others have shared, I've been able to at least get a glimpse into his life. I would have been glad to know you, Brent! I'm sorry that the chance is gone and I hope you'll forgive me. You had a great smile! Rest in peace. Jocelyne Broderick (daughter of your sister Mickey)

On May 1st Lincoln and I visited Uncle Brent. We had such a fantastic visit!! Lincoln (who is typically extremely shy) was happy to socialize with him, and affectionately calls him "the Twinkie Guy" after Uncle Brent was thrilled to share a Twinkie (or two) with him while we were there. Before we were leaving Lincoln was happy to head over to give a hug. Just then, my uncle swooped him up in his arms for huge embrace! I know full well how my uncle was feeling that day and I as well know full well that it literally took all he had to pick up my son- but that smile on his face was pure happiness and that he wasn't going to let cancer interfere in that moment with Lincoln!! Of all the wonderful memories I have of my uncle, that smile on his face that day will be the one to linger the most- because that smile he gave in that moment was full of life and love in a time of struggle and hardship. That was my uncle for you!! He was a man that would tell you to keep on going, and give it all you got while you can! He lived his life to its fullest, and went out fighting and still smiled thru it all. RIP uncle Brent!
