YOU CARRIED ME THROUGH{Tribute to my parents, Garn V. Carter and Lenore J. Carter}~ By Alan G. Carter, Early - Mid June 2018(Idea for this poem from Late May 2018)VERSE ONE: There was something very assuring about my mom and dad.....They had foresight enough to know and care about my personal needs, and insight enough to feel for the way I could individually be.....There was something very special to me about my mom and dad.....And for their many, many good, amiable friends.....Their good company was something in which they could depend.....As they were the kind of people that would be reliable to count on.....And they were the kind of parents that would do most anything for their children.....{ TO CHORUS }VERSE TWO: There was something very reliably steadfast about my mom and dad.....And though there were trials and tribulations, between our differing, evolving generations.....We had what it took for understanding the diverse problems we all had.....And with their seemingly boundless energy, they were a good inspiration for ones like my sister and me.....And there's no doubt, although they ended up being missed, they left an enviable legacy.....And lived long, full lives, living to the fullest, and being good parents was just one of their specialties..... {REPEAT CHORUS}~~~~~~CHORUS: It was so special to me how my parents carried me through my life.....And quite monumental how they assured me unlimitedly when the needs arrived.....You really carried me, and with great zeal.....You really carried me, and with an awesome appeal.....YOU CARRIED ME THROUGH, with no second thought, and virtually without fail.....YOU CARRIED ME THROUGH, and I doubt that very many had parents that would be so reliably care-giving in every detail.....And our family learned how to be true to each other.....As we carried each other through the trials and tribulations of life.....Yes my mom and dad were some good people for anyone to discover.....You were there for my "sis" and me.....And we were all there for each other, truly making things better for one another.....{!: TO VERSE TWO}{!!: FIN.}

A true mentor and lovely lady who has left a bit of her spirit with each of us who have been fortunate to have had the honor of her love in our lives. Her life was a blessing. She taught so many lessons in such subtle ways. Love of family, giving, and putting others before herself. My sincere sympathy to each member of the Carter family in the loss of a great matriarch. Thank you Lenore for 40 years of friendship. For ice skating, fishing, cooking pine nuts, and showing me the magic you could create in your darkroom. Such wonderful times. Until we meet again."Becky"

I add my condolences to my aunts, uncles, and cousins. Aunt Johnny was a great woman. She always had her camera in hand and took many pictures. My mother and I saw her Friday before her passing we talked about many memories with her even though she didn't talk we knew she heard us. We sang grandmas song "Mother Dear". It was so touching because even though she couldn't sing, her mouth was wide open as if she was singing with us. Tears rolled down her cheeks and her chin trembled.

I will miss my Aunt Johnie. I used to go see her and my Uncle Garn while in Utah visiting my grandma and grandpa Carter. She is a great lady and so very sad she is gone. I remember going over for breakfast and she was so giving and made sure I always felt welcome in their home.
