Jerry always made everyone laugh. He was the most talented drummer in Kearns. We played lots of classic Mexican tunes at the F.O.E. in West Valley. I had lots of band photos of us playing live but lost them in a fire in 2012, He sure did love to sing and dance too.

Well I've known Jerry for about 36 years played music together but my memories with him are too many. We laughed so hard this last time he tells me Benjamin I did the stupidest thing how could I be do crazy. I'm like what did you do? He's I went and bought a set of drums I can't believe I did that. I told him nice so you're going to play in a band huh. He was quiet then he's tells me Vince bought a bass and amp so I'm like you guys got in a group he's still quiet. And so I tell him yeah I bought some great to. At the drop of of a heart he's like went do you want to practice. I knew he was hosting me in the whole time.

I convinced Jerry (my cousin) to come back to California with me in about 1987. I was hoping he would stay and try to find work out here. Well he got home sick really quick. He missed his mother especially. At that time I don't think he was ever away from her. I drove him to Beverly Hills and we walked down Rodeo Drive. He was certain he could convince some wealthy Rolls Royce owner to take him for a drive in their convertible. He would say is this your car? It's Beauuuuuuuutiful. You don't mind if I just hop in the back seat..... Of course he was talking to me. I was certain he could pull it off. He had a unique charm to him.
