I always love this whole family. We got to know them all be pretty well when we all ended up in Okinawa. Believe me, when that far away from home, these people become family. Bill and his (our) family spent a lot of time on the beaches. So much fun I'm glad I got to see him a couple times last yr and the rest of the fam. He and the family will always be in my heart Love you all so much and Bill is a big loss. I'm so so sad about him gone but I know him and my husband are having a good time together now
