1. Brian was an ambitious hard-working father. He was an excellent water skier and loved to ride snowmobiles and motorcycles. He loved Volkswagens. He was extremely knowledgeable about aircraft and airplanes and could identify and tell you all of the details about every military, commercial and private aircraft. He was proud of his sons, and their accomplishments.

He loved to visit with them and their families, and enjoyed having them come to visit him.

He was as honest as the day is long, humble, and generous. He was a good neighbor, and a good friend to all who knew him.

He is survived by his wife, Beth Ann, Sons, Russell (Melanie) and Jeffrey, (Lillian) and 6 grandchildren he loved dearly. Also survived by his brother, Thomas (Miami) and his sisters, Adair (Chick) (Idaho Falls), and Michelle (Cub River). Ron Lamb posted:

I met Brian shortly after moving into our home a few houses down the street from him in Eagle Mountain, Utah. We quickly became friends and he often stop by to chat after driving home from a job. I really enjoyed his cheerful countenance and hard working approach to life. We would talk about projects we were working on (or contemplating...) or about the gospel or latest world events going on around us. He was always a wealth of information and really took in interest in my life and others. If Brian ever noticed a issue with our house, he was quick to volunteer to help out. Once Brian noticed some lifted/damaged roof shingles after a severe wind storm, came over with a ladder and shingles, climbed on the roof and patched it up for us right away! He was often a life-saver to us and the problems we encounter while living there. Brian was one of the most giving persons that I've had the pleasure to know and will miss his smile and cheerful wave whenever he would pass by. He put into practice the commandment "Love Thy Neighbor" in his everyday life and I will always be grateful to be able to say that I had the pleasure to have once known him.
