Jarin “Boo” Reggie Wolfley

October 25, 1978 – September 24, 2025

Jarin Reggie Wolfley, lovingly known to family and friends as “Boo,” passed away peacefully on September 24, 2025, surrounded by his devoted family after a courageous battle with esophageal cancer. He was 46 years old.

Born on October 25, 1978 in Salmon, Idaho, Jarin was the sixth of ten children born to his loving parents. He grew up in a bustling home filled with laughter, sports, and deep family bonds. Jarin graduated from Rich High School in Randolph, Utah in 1996, where he was a proud member of the Rich Rebels football team. Known for his fierce tackles and competitive spirit, he helped lead the Rebels to three consecutive state championships, earning a reputation for “hitting like a monster” on the field.

From 1999 to 2001, Jarin joyfully served an honorable two-year mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Dallas, Texas. His love for people and his unwavering faith shone brightly as he shared hope and kindness with everyone he met.

Following his mission, Jarin built a successful career with Irwin Seating Company, traveling across the country as a technician installing grand stadium seating in venues such as the Minnesota Vikings’ stadium and the Marriott Center at BYU. He took great pride in his work, knowing his efforts would be enjoyed by thousands for years to come. He married Megan Nelson on February 7, 2009-2024 and they had three beautiful girls together.

Jarin lived life with an open heart and an infectious enthusiasm. He loved snowmobiling, skiing, watching and playing football, and spending time with his brothers, whom he adored, and his sisters, whom he lovingly teased. He was always the first to show up for a party, quick with a joke to make others laugh, and passionate about supporting local school sports. Jarin found great joy in serving others. He often said that serving not only made him happy, but gave his life purpose.

But above all, Jarin's greatest joy and deepest devotion was reserved for his three beloved daughters, Cloey, Carmen, and Caitlyn who were the absolute loves of his life, and he cherished every moment of being their father—a role he took seriously and loved fiercely. He delighted in shopping with them and for them, taking them on outings, and simply spending time together. Jarin loved them more than life itself, and his heart was happiest when he was making memories with his girls.

In February 2024, Jarin was diagnosed with esophageal cancer. Though the journey was difficult, he faced each day with courage, faith, and gratitude. Choosing to embrace life fully, he retired early and created the personal motto by which he lived his remaining days: "Live Well and Love Life."

Jarin is survived by his three beloved daughters, Cloey (18), Carmen (15), and Caitlyn (13); his mother, Kay; and his nine siblings: Jody (Heather), Heath (Kaycee) Lance (Milisa), Triffini (Brian), Cameron (Michelle), Yvette, Treva (Matt), Chelsi (Jason), and Veronica (Shane). He was preceded in death by his father, Kim Wolfley.

His love, laughter, and example of service will forever remain in the hearts of those who knew him.

Funeral services for Jarin will be held Friday, October 3rd in the Draper LDS meeting house, with a viewing from 9-10:30 a.m. and the funeral at 11:00a.m-noon at the location of 1617 E 12700 S Draper, Utah 84020. A graveside service will be held that afternoon at the Ben Lomond cemetery 526 E 2850 N North Ogden, UT 84414.

Friends and family are invited to gather, share memories, and honor a life beautifully lived.

The family wishes to thank the many friends, caregivers, and loved ones who supported Jarin during his journey. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made via Venmo to @Lance-Wolfley at attention of BOO STRONG in Jarin's memory to help cover funeral expenses

@bostrongerI wanted to make another post here, probably or maybe for the last time, for Boo. I had to get this pic of him on here because it's one of my favorites. I am not even sure where he was when he took this but I am sure glad we have it. ♥ If social media is good for one thing, it's memory keeping. Makes me think of all the judging people may do of people taking "selfies". I say, take the picture:)Watching and feeling such an incredibly tender passing is indescribable. I am surely not the right person to put any of it into words in the right place it deserves.But I started this page for him and others who love him. I know many of you all miss him like we do.My sister, Chelsi, asked Boo what would be a sign from him that he would send for us to know he was around and he "flipped us off" with his middle finger. So a middle finger will never make me upset again. (A bird in the sky, maybe) He said "I still have my sense of humor." 😊👉

👉His last tender words for us being so close to this moment, I wasn't going to share but also feel it's important."What a surprise. What a beautiful surprise"Jarin was not heavily medicated and did not want to be. He wanted to be present and know everyone around him and he did just that.I share this carefully here for those who love and know or supported him to understand his peace and love and happiness.Also, his birthday is 10/25. How fitting is his forever nickname Boo. I told everyone he's going to really "Boo" us every October now.Happy Birthday very Soon Boo!💞💞Life is precious and so is what's next.I don't know if this is too much to share but it's here, in my heart right now and I don't want to ever forget it.

One memory that sticks out happened when we were maybe only 11. At this time there was a big dent in the passenger side back door of their car. This made that door unable to be opened. So on this day like any other, we (Jarin, Yvette and Treva and I) were getting picked up from Edith Bowen after school. We all piled in the car in the back seat (of course) Jarin being the first to slide all the way across followed by me, Yvette and Treva. While making a left turn, the door that could not be opened, suddenly popped open and Jarin starting to go with it! He so quickly grabbed onto the inside door handle and anything else he could, that being me, who was equally reaching out for him. And just like that he pulled himself back into the car and had that wide eyed half smile half surprised look which quickly turned into straight laughter. It happened so fast, so fast I'm not even sure if Kay knew what had just happened. I will never forget that look or laugh.

My favorite memories of Jarin are either with him streaking the neighborhood or jumping off the roof of the house on to the trampoline. That kid could not keep his clothes on for years. And he was always with your dad so I know he is won't be alone. What a brave man to fight for so long. He loved you all so much!

So many memories come to mind thinking about him. I'll just share two. The first one makes me smile and laugh a little to myself any time I think of it. Jarin and I share a love of shoe shopping. He decided he wanted to buy me a new pair of shoes for Mother's Day, but I had to really really like the shoes. We went to about four different stores before he was satisfied with how happy I truly was with a pair of shoes before he'd buy them for me. Kept me laughing all afternoon💗The second one is a little more tender. He and I decided to fly to Arizona and see his brother's sweet family one weekend. I haven't flown much so I tend to panic a little. A panic attack was on the rise for me and he could tell. He spoke so calm but didn't make a big deal of it, handed me one of his earbuds so we could listen to the same music and started playing this song called the mountain as you which I love now so much I had never heard it before And I just close my eyes, put my head on his shoulder, I felt him hold my hand and let the panic melt away. That was Jarin💗 It was sweet little things that showed his care for the people in his life.Love ya Jarin💗-Sherri Kearley

One night we were fishing at Lake Powell, and the boat broke down. We just kept on fishing like we didn't have a care in the world. We all fished all night long, and fixed the boat in the morning. We laughed, caught lots of fish and had a lot of fun. Such a great memory. Love you Jarin. Love Sabrina
