Papa was known to many as friendly, funny, life of the party, and an incredible storyteller. He told stories from working on the railroad and driving trucks. He had a huge love of traveling, camping, treasure hunting, animals and listening to rock and roll music loud! He was a friend and a source of so much laughter. He was a generous gift giver and one you could always call for direction and help. His birthday phone calls were always remembered and right on time.

Being a grandpa was his greatest joy. Papa will be deeply missed by so many along with the sound of his laughter and silly jokes.

Celebration of life information will be announced at a later date.

I was able to spend time with papa more when I moved out to Utah, we use to make time every Sunday for awhile before I moved again. We would play horseshoes, pool, hang out in the back yard and listen to loud Rock music and he would always have great stories. Sometimes we would adventure and it was nice to get him out to lunch when I could. He will be missed.-Anthony Betzing
