Bonnie was raised on a farm in Ucon, Idaho where she was taught the values of hard work, keeping your word, the importance of paying tithing and a love for family. She taught these values to her children and grandchildren by her example.

She loved life and at the center of her life was her family. She was an excellent homemaker. She kept a beautiful and immaculate home. Her cooking skills were unsurpassed much to the delight of her family. No one made better bread, cinnamon rolls, pies and hand dipped chocolates. She enjoyed cooking for her family. She was passionate about music and encouraged her family to develop their talents. She played the piano beautifully. She had a fondness for learning new things and reading.

She was an Idaho girl and looked forward to summers at her home on the Snake River in Swan Valley amongst her brothers and sisters whom she adored. They spent their days visiting, canning and planning family get-togethers. One summer was spent writing a Family Cookbook to preserve their Mothers and Grandmothers recipes. The "Family

Cookbook” is a treasure. She was proud of her heritage and made a valiant effort to further the cause of her family history records. She has been an outstanding example of loving as our Savior does. “ To the Phillips Family, What a delightful Lady Bonnie was. I didn't know her long, but when I was called as RS Pres. she was serving as a Visiting Teaching Supervisor. She had served long and well and appreciated still being able to serve others. The first time I met her was in May 2012. Their neighbor, Eric Sandstrom had just passed away and she wanted to know how she could help and offered to provide food for the family. It was only about two months ago when she reluctantly told me she would not be able to serve as a VT supervisor any longer because her vision was just not good enough any more. I told her I understood and thanked her for her many years of service. The last time I saw her she was bright and cheery. I was surprised to learn that she moved to The Peaks that very afternoon and I was surprised again when Patti called just a few days later to let me know she had passed away. I'm sure she is enjoying a great reunion with her loved ones. We express our love and appreciation for her and her loving ways, and our condolences to all the family. Mary and Lael Henderson
