“ Ferne and Mel were often at our home in Anchorage. I remember she would have to use sweetener drops in her coffee that she always had with her. She loved frilly blouses (Pink!) and dresses. I don't remember her wearing pants. She and Mel would go to dinner around 3 in the afternoon, and then come out and visit with Mom and Dad (Leo and Helen Smith). We loved her! and Mel, who always gave the biggest hugs with his shy smile. She was always fiesty and so much fun. One time we took the train to Whittier, where she and Mel lived for quite awhile.

Nancy Johnson, daughter of Helen and Leo Smith, originally from Anchorage but now living in Marysville, WA, where my dad lives as well.

“ My grandma always took care of me and my brother when we where young and my dad and mom would not be around. We saw more of our grandma then we did our parents. I rememeber her first time in blue jeans at my dads house. Dad would say mom with her blue jeans on.
