At the age of 17, with the permission of his mother, he entered service in the United States Navy. It was here that he served as an electronics specialist on diesel-electric boats. He had a range of experiences in the Pacific; stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Japan. At the age of 21, JD was honorably discharged.

It was at San Antonio Junior college, he met Roxsann Heard. He jokingly told friends he would marry her. Little did he know that his words would come true, and she would be the love of his life.

He eventually came up to Brigham Young University where Roxsann was attending. They were married on September 15th, 1965 In Salt Lake City LDS Temple. Their honeymoon was a camp out on mount Timpanogos, where it promptly snowed 5 inches.

JD's work experience included teaching physical therapy at the university level, hospital administration in Nephi, Utah, director of rehabilitation in American Fork, Utah, and pediatric physical therapy in St. George, Utah. The retirement years brought JD and Roxsann up to Provo, Utah to be closer to their grandchildren.

As a young father, JD was interested in becoming a pilot where he soloed several flights. His interests include racquetball, yoyo tricks, pool, chess and was also a volunteer with the Boy Scouts of America.

Most notably, JD was a faithful member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints. He was devoted to his faith in Christ and the principles of the Gospel of Christ and firmly believed families will be together forever and that all of this was made possible through Jesus Christ.
