She is dancing again with Elman and her two angel granddaughters in the heavenly realms! Marva loved LIFE! Marva liked to camp. Many weekends would find her and Elman at Box Creek, Fish Lake or the Otter Creek. Maple Grove, Pine Valley, Kent's Lake, Duck Creek, Zions Park and Bryce Canyon were some of the places her sons and daughters and their children became familiar with thanks to her love of camping and traveling, Marva liked to dance. Elman and Marva had an incredible group of friends who they danced with regularly. They even volunteered to call some square dances for the youth. Marva loved the Book of Mormon and missionary work. She and Elman served two missions together, one in Alabama and one in San Antonio, Texas. But her missionary work did not stop with her mission. Many times, she would start talking to complete strangers about the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. This love of missionary work is shared by her posterity today. Marva loved art. Her house was adorned with the many paintings. Every Christmas she painted angels as gifts for her family and friends. Many of those angels can still be found in the homes of her children and grandchildren. She made a lot of baby blankets and many new babies were wrapped in these as they slept.

Marva really loved going home to see her mom and dad in Venice. She is now in the arms of her eternal companion Elman, with her mom and dad and surrounded by family, painting clouds in the sky and dancing with the angels of heaven. And she is probably preparing to teach someone the gospel. She was loved greatly by those left behind and we look forward to the day we will meet again in heaven.

“ Marva and Elian were the first to welcome our family to West Jordan in 1983. She never missed my birthday, my kids called her the Birthday lady. She always had a smile, and a kind heart. I know she will be missed, but never forgotten. Peggy Davis/Mona Utah
