She married John McCray on May 31, 1955 in Arlington, Virginia. They had two children, Paul Bruce and Charles Harding IV, before they divorced in 1965.

Harding has lived in Orem, Utah since 1980. She rose to the challenges of raising two sons as a single mother; she was devoted to them. She had many talents and enjoyed sewing, crafts, and working on family history and genealogy. As a younger woman she enjoyed camping and visiting the outdoors as well as taking family road trips with her son's family.

She was an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, and she held many positions in the various wards and branches she served in. She also served in the Washington Seattle LDS mission. She greatly enjoyed her work at the Granite mountain record vault where she worked with microfilm records for the LDS church. She loved listening to the Mormon Tabernacle Choir music.

She adored her grandchildren and great-grandchildren; they were her life. She was a dear friend to all who knew her and was loved by all. She was an avid animal lover who had show cats that won many awards and ribbons. Later in life she had many sweet dogs. In lieu of flowers the family would ask that you make a donation to your local animal shelter in her memory.
