“ Cheryl, Codi and Shantel, Im sorry for your loss. I remember Neil as "Teddy Bear" the name painted on his light yellow Creasey Catering truck. I watched him get load everything on it sometimes twice a day because he ran a day route and a night route. Barry my husband worked at Creasey's too. Teddy always took time to say hello and when he saw something that could help Barry out with his route he would take the time to share that with him. He was also married to Sami who became my step mom. I know both Sami and Denise will be with him there. R.I.P. Teddy Bear. Cheryl your Dad loved you and i know you will miss him. What he would want for you is to remember your life with him and be happy to have been part of it.
