“ Rick or as I called him growing up (Dickie) which he changed quickly as an adult, spent the majority of our young years supporting each other (life was not easy at times. We lost touch as we got older but never stopped loving each other. When Rick found Hiang (his wife) he found love and created a great family together. I wish I had gotten out to Utah to spend time with him and his family, but that never happened. I will miss you with all my heart and soul. But, I know you are in heaven looking down at us with love.

Chris Duehring (his baby sister).

Wish all of his family peace and love.
